Little Star Center welcomes Julia A. Carpenter to its Board of Directors

Carmel, Ind.—May 1, 2014—Little Star Center, a non-profit Indiana therapeutic applied behavior analysis facility providing center-based, in-home, community and school transition programs for children, teens and young adults with autism, welcomes Julia A. Carpenter to its board of directors.

Carpenter is a partner at Krieg DeVault, where she is a member of the firm’s commercial and real estate lending practice group. She has more than 20 years of experience is commercial lending, banking, real estate, corporate finance and general corporate matters and has served on more than a dozen non-profit boards. “Within the last two years Little Star Center has expanded services to Lafayette and Bloomington and added in-home services. Julia’s legal expertise and experience will be an asset to ensure we’re meeting the needs of learners, their families and our donors as we manage this growth,” says Mary Rosswurm, Little Star Center executive director.

Little Star Center, a non-profit organization with ABA centers in Carmel, Lafayette and Bloomington coupled with in-home, community and school-transition programs, is Indiana’s first center-based, applied behavior analysis facility opening in 2002. Little Star team members are focused on providing a place where kids with autism learn to live in the world and parents learn they are not alone via a nurturing, structured and therapeutic environment for children, teens and young adults. Statistics show autism is one of the most rapidly growing developmental disabilities in the United States with one in 68 children diagnosed each year. To learn more visit www.LittleStarCenter.org.
